DETECTIVE CHIEF WARNS MATRONS

Tells Public to Beware of Baltimore Woman Who May Come Here for Change.

Captain McMahon wishes to warn all householders in Richmond to beware of a dark woman, of Baltimore, who may come here for a change of air and also a little pocket change, as she is not wanted any more in the Monument City.

The dark woman, who is five feet seven inches tall, and who, when she "pulled off" her last job, was garbed in dark attire, has a peculiar and winning way. She is in the habit of inserting advertisements in the newspapers for servant girls, who are to get $10 a month. She usually gets numerous replies, and from the number of applicants selects one, who is a confederate, and sends her to a home where she usually gets money, jewelry and money plentiful. Then late one night the servant skips out with all the jewelry and money she can lay her hands on, and is escorted in an automobile, she is whisked away, and in some lonely byway the valuable are divided, and some other distant seaport is decided upon as a scene of operations.

The woman has been remarkably successful in many cities and has never once been apprehended. So, matrons, beware and be careful.

MOTOR CAR FOLK WIN ON APPEAL

Seven, Fined by Magistrate, Acquitted in Henrico Circuit Court.

On appeal from the Henrico county Magistrate's Court, yesterday, seven motorists were relieved of the fine in the Circuit Court. The appeal was based on the ground that their speedometers did not register more than the legal rate of fifteen miles an hour. The case was argued by the County Police Officer, and by the County Attorney. The seven acquitted yesterday and one or two more who will be before Judge Scott on April 14, will all who saw fit to take appeals. The others, as a rule, admitted exceeding the limit and paid the fine without strenuous protest.

Those appearing before Judge Scott yesterday were J. D. Carneal, Gordon Motor Company, Paul P. Shaffer, the Cable Company, the Foster Motor Company, J. C. Pelouse and H. C. Hoot. STEEL MILL BRANCH WILL LOCATE HERE

Oriskany Ore and Iron Company Buys Armitage Property on James River.

RIGHT AT DEEP WATER POINT

General Understanding Is That Company Will Erect Plant, Employing 500 Men.

Deeds have been recorded in the Henrico county clerk's office conveying from F. C. Armitage to the Oriskany Ore and Iron Company, of Covington, 350 acres of land on the Osborne Turnpike, about four miles east of this city. The sale was made by John H. Chaffin, and the price paid was $25,000. Attorney William O. Skelton, representing the Oriskany Ore and Iron Company, engineered the deal, but said last night that he was not at liberty to state at this time what records it would be made of the property. It is said, though, on reliable authority that a branch of the steel plant at Iron Gate will be located on the property, and the land was bought with special reference to securing a good location for making shipments by water.

Gets Good Water Front.
The tract runs from the Osborne Turnpike to the river, and being just below the granite formation running along the city water front, a depth of twenty-five feet can be obtained at small expense. When the plant is completed, it is reported as correct, employment will be provided for 500 men, and the freight bills will be something like $1,000 per day.
The tract lies between Chatsworth farm and Tree Hill, extending from the turnpike to the river. It is one of the most historic places on the lower James, having been the scene of battle both in the Revolution and the Civil War. According to records, it was first the property of Nathaniel Bacon by royal grant. When he was executed for treason after the rebellion of 1676, the place was purchased by William Randolph, and remained in the family until after the Civil War. Since that time it has been in the hands of several others, having been bought about two months ago by Mr. Armitage for $10,000.

ACTOR, WHO BROKE LEG, IS RESTING COMFORTABLY

Robert Miller, one of the cast in "The Riders," now appearing in the Bijou, suffered an unfortunate accident Monday night when, in a friendly scuffle with Lewis Sidney, brother of George Sidney, he fell across some scenery and broke his right leg.
The accident occurred behind the scenes, and several rushed to the aid of the fallen actor, who was severely hurt. He was carried over to the Park Hotel, where he was attended by Dr. M. O. Burke, and is now resting comfortably. He is reported last night to be resting comfortably.

They were captured after a fight with officers, and all but $12,000 of the loot was recovered in their trunks."
Certified copies of the indictments, against Eby and Harris were brought by Mr. Lewis, and he conferred with United States District Attorney Lewis about the case to-day. It is expected that the prisoners will fight extradition.

CONVICTED WOMAN

Wm. Hatchett Sent to Jail and the Woman He Appeared Against Acquitted.

In the Hastings Court yesterday William Hatchett, a witness against Lillie Payne, was placed under security for ninety days, and the woman was allowed to go free.
The woman was charged with stabbing Hatchett, but his testimony was so conflicting that Judge Witt called a halt in the trial before it was more than half finished, and ordered the man placed under security. He was unable to give it, and was sent to jail.
George Stanley, colored, charged with grand larceny, was sentenced to three years on the roads.

TERM TOO SHORT FOR ABRAM C. EBY

Former Burkeville Mayor Will Be Tried Here When Present Sentence Is Concluded.

USED MAILS TO DEFRAUD

Three Counts in New Indictment Returned by Local Grand Jury.

Because the United States courts in Philadelphia were without jurisdiction except in one of several counts of an indictment against Abram C. Eby, alias Adam Smith, and consequently did not make his punishment more than eighteen months in a Federal prison, the grand jury of the United States District Court on yesterday brought in a true bill containing three counts against the accused, for which he must answer at the conclusion of his present term. Eby is indicted here for using the United States mails for state at this time, which records the nature of a letter addressed to the president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is such as to cause many persons to believe the former Mayor of Burkeville is of unsound mind.

The communication to President McKeen, dated July 26, 1909, and in which Eby demanded that the corporation pay him $45,000, or else be prepared to discover at any time that a train or the Norfolk and Western Railway, which is owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad, had been blown to atoms and many persons killed.

The indictment presented in Philadelphia charges that Eby had knowledge of the use of dynamite and the use of the mails to attempt to locate or capture him.
The indictment was presented by the grand jury of the Eastern District of Virginia. The witnesses who appeared before the grand jury yesterday were O. J. DeRousse, of Philadelphia, P. A. Myers, a railway mail clerk, and William Calvert, a post-office inspector.

TO CONTINUE FUND

Edward of Firemen's Relief Association Levies Assessments.

An extended meeting of the board of directors of the Firemen's Relief Association was held last night in the headquarters of the association, at the Fire Department Headquarters. In view of recent court proceedings, which were in effect, it was decided to wind up the affairs of the association and distribute its fund. It was determined that the association should proceed to collect the monthly dues and assessments now due from all the members. A large number of assessments were paid by the members.

Secretary Rawson said at the conclusion of the meeting that the financial affairs of the association were in excellent condition; that he had in the past paid out large sums to widows and orphans of firemen, and that there was no reason why the fund should not be continued.

A report will be made shortly to a meeting of the members, to be called by President Jones. Thomas Bowry, one of the advocates of dissolution, in authority for the statement that the affairs of the association will shortly be reviewed by state lawmakers.

The twenty-third annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union of East Hanover Presbytery convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the Third Presbyterian Church. Rev. R. B. Eggleston conducted devotional exercises.

Miss Maria Blair read an interesting paper on the "History of the Woman's Missionary Union of East Hanover Presbytery," and afterwards Mrs. T. C. Johnson conducted a short conference on Bible study.

In the afternoon devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. H. G. Cannon, and a strong and impressive address on the "Church of Christ" was delivered by Rev. Theron H. Rice, D. D., of Union Theological Seminary.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered by Mr. Eggleston, and adjournment was had until this morning, when devotional exercises will be presided over by Mrs. Cameron Johnson. Officers will be elected to-day, and the time and place of the next meeting will be decided upon. There will be several important addresses by prominent members.

Rev. J. M. Booker, synodical evangelist, will speak at noon on "Home Mission Work Among the Mountaineers." The afternoon session will be devoted to work among young people, and will be led by Miss Anna Branch.

Bristow, of Middlesex county, was indicted yesterday by the grand jury, of the United States District Court, for stealing a letter containing a check for $324.10 from the post-office at Locust Hill. FIRST LUTHERAN STARTS NEW HOME

Impressive Religious Scene When Corner-Stone Is Laid by Congregation.

FACES STUART MONUMENT

Dr. Morehead, in His Address, Tells Why Church Is Needed Here.

Under brilliant skies and in view of the passing throng on Monument Avenue, the corner-stone of the new building of the First English Evangelical Lutheran Church was laid yesterday afternoon with impressive religious ceremonies. The church proposed to be one of the handsones in the city, the walls of Virginia granite having already risen above the level of the main floor. The structure will be semicircular in shape, occupying the broad sweeping curve at the intersection of Monument Avenue and Lombard street, and facing directly the Stuart monument erected to the memory of Lieutenant-General J. E. B. Stuart. Beyond the monument the building will extend to the campus of Richmond College, and on all sides it has a most commanding outlook on the most progressive and prospective section of new Richmond. It is so far the only church building on Monument Avenue, though report has it that others will soon follow.

Rev. J. A. Morehead, D. D., of Roanoke College, at Salem, a former pastor of the church, laid the corner-stone, assisted by the pastor of the Virginia Synod, the present pastor of the church, Rev. J. J. Scherer, Jr., conducting the services.

Dr. Morehead's address. In the course of his address Dr. Morehead said that there were two forces for the Lutheran church, education and true religion. Over against sin and a life of evil habits and passions, and all the dark picture of human iniquity there was the power of God moving for the advancement of the race through the channel of the church and Christian education. It must be an encouragement, he said, not only to the members of that particular congregation or denomination, but to every patriotic heart of the Christian church of any denomination suitably located and properly housed for the work committed to it. "For the purest and best in short, for the saving things in human life. The city of Richmond needs this church as a conservative force in its progress, and the Lutheran denomination needs this building for its progress in the community. The German and Scandinavian population already in Virginia and others coming in make a well located and suitably arranged church a necessity for the city of Richmond. The Lutheran Church of Richmond most desirable."

Why It Is Needed.

"Another reason why we should erect this church lies in the history of this denomination and its work for the betterment of the community and the welfare of the community."

"The history of the denomination shows that the Lutheran Church has been a powerful force in the Christian religion—faith in the Bible as the Word of God, in the Lord Jesus Christ, the atoning sacrifice, faith in the reality of the resurrection and the life beyond the grave. It stands against rationalism and higher criticism, against the denial of the Bible and unbelief. The Evangelical Lutheran Church stands with other churches and other denominations for the truth of the Christian faith."

"I congratulate this congregation in having begun this great work, in having selected so excellently a location and in having laid a corner-stone of this promising and imposing building. I charge you that having laid your corner-stone, you will not look backward until the completion of the undertaking."

The Virginia Synod of the Lutheran Church meets in Richmond this fall, and every effort will be made to have the main auditorium of the new church ready in order that the meetings may be held there, and the dedication take place at that time.

The pastor of the church, Mr. Scherer, returned yesterday morning from Salem, Va., where he secured subscriptions amounting to $500 for the building fund.

Articles were placed in the corner-stone: Bible, Book of Worship, copy of The Times-Dispatch of April 4, 1910, $5 gold piece, photographs of former pastors, constitution and directory of congregation, with list of members, officers, members of building committee and others; photograph of William Meyer, Sr., a charter member, who died last year; minutes of the Lutheran Synod of Virginia and of the United Synod of the South.

JURY IN CUSTODY OF DEPUTY ROGERS

At Former Trial Stafford Bought Drinks for Those Sitting in His Case.

John C. Stafford, of Surry county, whose second trial for running a distillery before his bond had been approved by the revenue department, was the last witness to appear in his case yesterday, and this morning Assistant District Attorney Talley and Attorney George C. Hanson will argue instructions. The hearing will probably conclude this afternoon, and a verdict is expected before court adjourns.

When Stafford was tried at the October term of the United States District Court the jury was not allowed to go home over night, but two of them took drinks with the prisoner during the recess and were fined for contempt. The trial resulted in a hung jury. At the conclusion of the case, as far as the taking of evidence is concerned, yesterday afternoon Judge Waddell ordered that the jury be retained in custody of Deputy Marshal Rogers until to-day.

Stafford stated on the witness stand yesterday that he was not responsible for the operation of the distillery, if it was operated, and his defense is based largely on the assertion that an employee of his, Charles W. Waddell, was the one who operated the distillery. Stafford is a young man, about thirty years old, and had but little experience in the manufacture of whiskey before he was arrested on information obtained by an employee of the revenue agent's office.

The petit jurors are H. Theodore Ellyson, E. K. Gunn, J. M. Campbell, P. J. Mitchell, J. R. Adams, W. T. Hitchcock, W. R. Fenson, W. S. Bowles, Herndon Talbot, Charles W. Waddell, R. E. Freeman and Carter Harrison. They spent last night at Murphy's Hotel.

Tag Day Returns.

The latest returns from the tag day boxes were stated last night to have passed the $100 mark, with many boxes still to be heard from.

Most of the boxes were taken to the Bank of Richmond, but others came in from various parts of the city separately. The Instructive Visiting Nurses' Association is much pleased with the large sum it realized.

RED-FACED MAN WANTED SOME PIE

But His Rosy Cheeks Disappeared From Back Door When Police Are Called.

A red-faced man, and that is about all the description that was gained of him, went to the kitchen door at 211 East Grace Street last night and peremptorily demanded entrance.

It is said that he had been in the habit of sleeping somewhere in the back, but last night he wanted more comfortable quarters, and he had the face—a very red one—to demand them. The servant slammed the door in his rose-colored face, and her mistress telephoned to the police.

The red-faced man heard the telephone call, and evidently thought it time to vamoose, and his ecstasies were soon flying to the breeze.

A mounted policeman hurried to the scene, but the man with the rubicund countenance had vanished more completely than the post-office robbers, and he had no tell-tale package whereby to trace him.

He was probably looking for passage for his grub car when he asked admittance into the kitchen. Detectives have every reason to believe that he had heard of such an occurrence, and many a woman who lives on a country place could tell the same story, about men with red faces, and who come to the door in the sun, for men with white faces and men with black faces are just as apt to demand a seat at the picnic counter as the red-faced man.

But the police warn all to be on the lookout for a man with a fiery countenance. He may be dangerous when he is hungry.

WOMAN TO ENTER ENDURANCE RUNS

Miss Dunlop, of Petersburg, to Drive Her Car in Both Contests.

As an evidence of the interest that is being taken in The Times-Dispatch endurance runs, which will occur on June 6 and 7 for the Virginia, and June 8, 9 and 10 for the North Carolina, The Times-Dispatch has received an entry from Miss Anna M. Dunlop, of Petersburg. Miss Dunlop states that she will enter any both contests and drive her own car. Miss Dunlop is the first on the woman's list, and in writing she declares that she does not wish red faces or expect eyes receive any, but that all she desires is to enter on equal terms with the men who take part in the contest.

Leonard T. Telford, president of the Capitol-to-Capitol Highway Association, has written to say that the roads in North Carolina are in excellent condition, and that the people of the State are looking forward with the greatest interest to the North Carolina run.

SUMMONS ISSUED AGAINST KELLY

A summons was issued yesterday by Clerk Joseph P. Brady, of the United States District Court, commanding the Phil G. Kelly Company, Incorporated, to answer an indictment brought against it Monday afternoon in the United States District Court. The court paper was served on the corporation yesterday afternoon by Marshal Smithers, and while it is made returnable forthwith, it is understood that several days will be allowed the defendant to consult counsel and prepare a defense. H. M. Smith, Jr., has been retained as counsel for the firm, which claims it will be able to explain its position relative to the serious accusations brought by officials of the Revenue Agent's office.

Again yesterday those interested in the case for the government refused to discuss the methods of their operations, and if, as they say, sensational developments are to follow, the various charges will not be publicly brought to light, perhaps, until made in open court. It is practically assured that other Richmond retailers will be indicted for similar violations of the revenue statutes; but it is likely that the outcome of the Kelly case, which will probably be tried at this term of the United States District Court, will decide how far the Government officers will proceed.
